Clinical Discussion Groups 2018

The British Psychoanalytic Association (BPA) is a Component Society of the International Psychoanalytical Association (IPA). It is also an Association within the British Psychotherapy Foundation (bpf).

The BPA Clinical Discussion Groups (CDGs) January – July 2018 enable participants who may be interested in training as a Psychoanalyst or Psychoanalytic Psychotherapist to begin to think, or to develop their thinking further in a psychoanalytic way. The CDGs provide an opportunity for participants to discuss and to think together about their professional relationships and work, whether clinical work or work in any type of workplace or institution from a psychoanalytic viewpoint; and the application of psychoanalytic concepts and understanding.

The CDGs also provide a forum in which to answer questions and to give information about training and matters relating to training in various ways.

- Suitable for people wanting to find out more and thinking about the possibility of training as a Psychoanalyst or Psychoanalytic Psychotherapist
